In today's lesson, we will discuss 2 consonants i.e. t and h when come together to make a single sound known as a consonant digraph /th/. You can even recall the digraph we have done before. You can simply start by showing pictures to the students one by one. And let them guess. The students tell the name of the objects or things shown on the picture card. Such as you can begin with the thorn picture or simply point it out to the real thorn in the plant and let them guess. Let the students spell out the words with this digraph. Let them start spelling out. As soon as they start spelling they will observe that their tongue is between their front teeth when they say these words. Play the `th` words song for students. https://youtu.be/XNtDh.tn.jPgA Action: The students pretend they are naughty clowns and stick out their tongues, a little way for`th` and further for`thth`. Story: The clowns at the circus are very funny. They run around and tickle each other with feathers. One naughty clown is rather rude. He sticks his tongue out a little, saying`th`. Another clown is v rude. He sticks his tongue right out, saying`ththth`. Everybody laughs Focused Task: Give the picture cards (three, thief, thorn, thin, thumb, cloth,) to each student.
